www.fundaciondiabetes.org

Describe, in your own words, what Type 1 diabetes is.

Remember to use the following words, as part of your essay: CLUCOSE, INSULIN and PANCREAS.

BEFORE YOU WRITE YOUR ESSAY...

Put together an outline of the ideas you're thinking of including, and make sure they're properly set out.

Then, decide how you're going to go about writing the text.

Remember that, for the essay to make sense, it should be clearly structured into three parts:

- an introduction, where you describe what you're going to be writing about and why;
- the body of the text, where you develop the points you've decided to discuss;
- and, a conclusion, where you express a closing thought or idea you consider important.

NOW THAT YOU'VE GOT YOUR OUTLINE READY, YOU CAN WRITE YOUR ESSAY!
